Winemaker Notes: The 2013 Reynoso Family Wines Cabernet is crafted from one hundred percent estate fruit grown on our rocky hillside in the north end of the Alexander Valley. The wine was fermented at a cool temperature and then pressed off into 35% new French oak barrels and aged for 20 months. While the nose is filled with dark cherry, cassis, and blackberry, there is a layer of fresh herb, particularly sweet thyme. It finishes with some toasty oak and cedar backed with dusty tannins. You can enjoy this wine now, but if it spends a few years in a cool, dark place, it will reward your patience!

Reynoso Vineyards: Family-owned Reynoso Vineyards is a 550 acre estate located in the Alexander Valley. The estate was originally purchased in 1994, and since that time grapes have been sold to several of Sonoma's finest wine producers. We are currently farming 155 acres of Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot, Syrah, Zinfandel, Petite Sirah, Sauvignon Blanc, and Viognier. Only a small percentage of the finest grapes on the estate are used for Reynoso Vineyard wines.

Proprietors Joe and Elena Reynoso are committed to producing small lots of estate grown Cabernet Sauvignon, Syrah, and Sauvignon Blanc. Our goal is to craft fruit-driven wines that display distinctive varietal character and intensity without sacrificing elegance and their own element of terroir. We are earnest about producing great wines from our vineyards, and above all, wines that family and friends can enjoy for years to come.
